

New Powerful Features for FMStudio

Glen Allen, Va – June 20, 2007 – FMWebschool, Inc. announced the new update for FMStudio. This new update enables users to quickly grab all of the fields from a FileMaker layout with "one click" and place them inside your Dreamweaver workspace.

Save time with this new feature!

Unlike previous FMStudio releases that focus on expanding functionality or fixing problems - this time around we have decided to improve our promise of saving your time when developing web applications!

In this FMStudio update we are providing a significant speed improvement when building forms, recordsets, and queries in the form of convenient 'add all' and 'remove all' buttons for fields within a specific layout. Using these buttons you can now build a form with many fields from scratch within seconds, instead of previously needed 1-2 minutes to click add on each field.

If you doubt that this will improve the speed of your development - just try it out by building a quick form with 10 fields, and then a new query with those same 10 fields entered - use our buttons and we bet you can do all this in under 30 seconds!

Big Updates on their way!

Thank you to everyone that participated on our forums over the past couple months giving us ideas as to new features you would like to see incorporated in FMStudio. Thank you for your time and great ideas!

We are busily implementing many of those requests and will have a new update available towards the end of July.

In Kindness
The Team at FMWebschool